

Dear friend,

We are writing to you because Eimy needs your help.

Eimy is five years old and lives in Northern Peru with her mother and her siblings in a small adobe home. She loves playing with dolls and painting bright pictures. At church, she listens closely to Bible stories and hears prayer requests for the sick. In her community, resources are scarce and seeing a doctor is a luxury. Eimy dreams of becoming a doctor so she can care for others.

Like thousands of Children of Promise kids before her, Eimy has a dream of becoming a leader who will change her community. This is how the ripple effect begins.

Through Children of Promise, children like Eimy receive nutrition, education, health care, and discipleship, which is the foundation they need not just to survive, but to grow into leaders in their communities. When you sponsor a child, you change a life, but when you create a leader, you can change a city.

Florence is living proof of what that ripple can become.

Growing up in Uganda, Florence faced many of the same challenges children experience in poverty. Through Children of Promise, she received the support she needed to stay in school and keep moving forward. Year after year, that steady investment helped her dream grow stronger.

Today, Florence is in university studying to become a surgeon. She is preparing for a future where she will bring healing to others in her community. The ripple that began in her childhood is now expanding as she steps into leadership and service.

What began as a ripple is becoming a movement.

Because of supporters like you, more than 10,000 Children of Promise graduates are now leaders in their communities, and nearly 5,000 currently sponsored children are on their way. This spring, we have an opportunity to cross an incredible milestone of 15,000 leaders by welcoming 100 new kids like Eimy into the program.

Imagine 15,000 young leaders rising up around the world: teachers, pastors, caregivers, and doctors, each one creating waves of change in their own communities.

This May, help us send 100 new leaders into the future. You can continue the ripple effect into the next generation by helping us reach our $50,000 goal. Every rock skipped, no matter the size, will amplify the waves of change in communities around the world.
